

Individual Title (i.e. “Nesticus Furtivus”)

General description... for example:

Nesticus furtivus, the “Crystal Caverns Cave Spider”, is a species of true spider in the family Nesticidae. It is found only in Raccoon Mountain Caverns, a commercial cave in Chattanooga, TN.

Extra information included here... A short description may be all that is needed for topics with less presentable information. For the topic of Nesticus Furtivus, you might include outside resources (with proper citations), for example information from <http://gbif.org/species/2152831>. Please include the link near the data so I can add proper MLA citations. You are welcome to add charts, pictures, graphs, tables, or any visual data– the more eye-catching content, the better. Include videos if desired as well (insert YouTube or other link... I can add video from DVDs as well). Add as many paragraphs as you desire, though please keep language concise and keep advanced technical terms to a minimum– we’re dealing with the general public.
